

3^d INTERNATIONAL SCIENTIFIC-PRACTICAL CONFERENCE

EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICE: FROM HEALTH TO SOCIAL WELL-BEING

20 April 2023
Utena

Aims of the conference

- To bring together academics, researchers and practitioners.
- To motivate scientific and practical discussion on trends in the activities of health and social work professionals in the context of evidence-based practice.
- To promote practical interprofessional collaboration on evidence-based practice.
- To share own experiences, reliable evidences and new ideas.

As evidence-based practice becomes the norm, its application in different areas of life is not accidental and natural. It is the “mantra” of these days.

Evidence-based practice is intended to support practitioners in different fields in their decision-making by answering problematic questions (Melnik et al., 2014). Knowing how to find evidence and being able to critically evaluate it are prerequisites for optimal and high-quality performance.

These topics to be discussed during the conference

- Evidence-based practice: from the classroom to the patient (dental care, nursing, rehabilitation).
- Good examples of evidence-based practice in social work.
- Evidence-based aesthetic and cosmetic skin care.
- Evidence-based training in health, social, and human sciences.
- Challenges and opportunities in the application of evidence-based practice.
